Senior Veterinary Surgeon (f/m/d) – Anaesthesia

Location: Munich, Germany

Field: Small Animals

About Us:

Our privately-owned veterinary clinic is one of the leading facilities for small animal care across all specialties, providing state-of-the-art medical treatment at the highest level. Our dedicated team of specialists works together in an interdisciplinary manner to ensure comprehensive care for our patients. We pride ourselves on being an innovative and progressive clinic that meets the highest standards.

Your responsibilities:

- Leading role in the anaesthesia department, overseeing all anaesthetic procedures.
- Planning and administering anaesthesia for surgical and diagnostic procedures in small animals.
- Training, guiding, and supervising junior veterinarians and support staff in anaesthesia.
- Assisting in the development and implementation of new treatment standards and protocols.
- Collaborating closely with other departments to ensure optimal patient care.
- Participating in on-call and emergency duty (one weekend per month).

What we are looking for:

- A degree in Veterinary Medicine with recognition as a Diplomate ACVAA/ECVAA, a specialist in Anaesthesia, or completion of a residency program.
- Several years of experience in veterinary anaesthesia, ideally in a senior role.
- Strong knowledge of modern anaesthetic techniques and equipment, as well as local anaesthesia (particularly ultrasound-guided procedures).
- A team-oriented, communicative, and responsible approach to work.
- High motivation for continuous professional development and the advancement of the department.
- Good command of German and/or willingness to learn the language quickly.

What we offer:

- Modern clinic environment in the south of Munich with state-of-the-art medical technology
- Recognized, well-established, and independent veterinary clinic covering all relevant specialist areas
- A highly motivated, collegial team with a great team spirit
- Open-door policy and cooperative leadership style
- Regular feedback, exchange, and development meetings
- First-class and continuous training and education, including a training budget
- Attractive compensation package with additional social benefits, employee discounts, and special offers
- Subsidized meals, free hot beverages & fruit, as well as free breakfast on weekends
- Forward-looking and well-structured scheduling aligned with the natural biorhythm
- Regular team events and company celebrations (TKO summer party and TKO Christmas party)

Ready to join the TKO family?

If you are passionate about anaesthesia and enjoy working in a team while taking on responsibility, we would love to hear from you!
