

Offer - Senior Clinician in Dermatology

Academic year 2025-2026

THE OFFER

The Small Animal Teaching Hospital of the University of Liège, Belgium offers position for a Senior Clinician in Dermatology. The position is available as of September 15th 2025. He/she will be involved in clinical teaching to students and interns. Part-time position is possible. Development of research activity is a possibility (PhD thesis, etc...).

THE CLINIC

The Small Animal Teaching Hospital is a state-of-the art facility equipped with the most advanced equipment including 1.5 Tesla MRI, 64 slices CT scan, endoscopy, minimally invasive equipment, diode laser, radiation therapy, a blood bank center, hemodialysis, mechanical ventilation, among others. Case load for companion animals is around 15000 cases a year.

The current team includes diplomates in internal medicine (5 ECVIM-CA), surgery (3 ECVS), emergency and intensive care (2 ECVECC), diagnostic imaging (4 ECVDI), anaesthesiology (2 ECVA and 1 ACVA), reproduction (2 ECAR), ophthalmology (1 ECVO), cardiology (2 ECVIM-CA cardiology), neurology (1 ECVN), sport medicine and rehabilitation (1 ECVSMR) and nutrition (1 ECVCN).

CANDIDATE PROFILE

Candidates are expected to have an ECVD/ACVD diploma or to be Board eligible. Proficiency in the French language is essential (B2 level). Effective communication and interpersonal skills are essential attributes, as the role requires collaboration within a team-oriented environment.

Would you like to join us?

Interested candidates are invited to contact Prof. Dominique Peeters (dpeeters@uliege.be)